MARKER TO BE DEDICATED AT OVERLAND MAIL STATION IN VISALIA BY E CLAMPUS VITUS

ART WORK BY RON PEYRON

From St. Louis To San Francisco In Only 18 Days, 20 Hours

THE OVERLAND MAIL COMPANY

ESTABLISHED 1858 BY JOHN BUTTERFIELD

It was a helluva long way from California to the East in the 1850's, and when John Butterfield got a contract to operate a mail line to provide semi-weekly deliveries over the 2,700-mile great ox-bow route from the rail terminus at Tipton, Mo., near St. Louis, to San Francisco via Los Angeles, there was great rejoicing among the brethren in California, for the time one way was not to exceed 25 days.

A lot of folks were willing to bet old John couldn't set it up, but with a $600,000 contract at stake, he got going on Sept. 15 when stages left simultaneously from San Francisco and St. Louis. John had 139 stations set up along the way, umpteen hundred head of horses and a goodly number of skilled, sober (humph!) drivers all ready to go. The westbounders brought the mail through in 23 days, 23 hours on the first trip and later did it in 18 days, 20 hours. What say the brethren?

Butterfield chose an all-weather route extending to the Mexican border. The line came into Los Angeles, then north to Fort Tejon and down into the valley by way of the Sinks of the Tejon, Gordon's Ferry across Kern river, Poso creek, a spooky place called Willow Springs, Mountain House on White River, Fountain Springs, Tule River, Packwood about four miles east of Exeter, and Visalia. It went north to Cross Creek, Whitmore's or Smith's Ferry on the Kings, Elkhorn, Fresno City, and Firebaugh's Ferry.

About 11:30 p.m. on Oct. 8, 1858 the 500 or so citizens of Visalia turned out in goodly numbers to greet the first Butterfield stage to reach their city. Aboard was the only "through" passenger, a hardy young New York Daily Herald reporter, Waterman Ormsby, who left us a good description of the Visalia arrival. He had left Fort Tejon about 3:40 a.m. and travel was pretty fast over the easy valley route, about nine miles an hour. Of his Visalia visit, Ormsby reported, in part:

"The next town of any importance is Visalia, which is 47 miles from White River and about 100 from Fort Tejon and the first town from Tejon. There are a few adobe houses and the population is about 500. The place is situated in an oak grove, sometimes called Four Creeks, which seldom have much water. There are a number of New Yorkers in town and I took a glass of lager, which made me feel quite at home. Though it was nearly midnight when we arrived, the news spread rapidly and we soon had a cordial greeting.

"Before we left they gave us an anvil salute, which was quite new to me. The powder was placed in a hole in one anvil, and a train laid to the edge. A card is then placed over the hole, and another anvil on top of that. The report was quite as heavy as those of an eight pounder. This was the first evidence of any enthusiasm along the route since we left Fort Smith, and the rousing cheers they gave us as we drove off at 11:50 on Friday the 8th of October, ought to be remembered in the history of the town; so I here immortalize them."

The Visalia station was on Main street, then called Mill street, at the Overland hotel, which was run by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Billups. They had a pretty daughter who married A.O. Thomas, a Butterfield driver who later operated a stage line of his own in the area. C.N. Norris of Visalia was also said to have been a Butterfield driver.

Concord coaches and lighter "celerity" or mudwagons were used, mudwagons drawn by four horses being the rule in the valley, according to some historians. It was rough going. Royal Porter Putnam, who complained he had to walk from Kern river to Willow Springs before catching the stage, said, "Stage riding is disagreeable." Contemporary accounts abound with references to "red eye," Bourbon, and Monongahela among the passengers as a means of easing the way. Both Concord and mudwagon bodies were suspended on thorobraces, long straps of leather which ran fore and aft, making it easier for the draft animals but giving a pitch and roll to the conveyance that often made passengers seasick.

In December, 1858, Porter Putnam took over the Overland's Packwood station at $30 a month. "There is plenty of Maids of the Forest close by," his diary tells us. Later Putnam moved to Tule River and went on to found the town, Porterville, that bears his name. Peter Goodhue, a prominent Visalian, was first operator of the Tule river station.

The twice weekly arrivals of the Overland mail were popular events in the little town of Visalia, but they ended in April of 1861 when the War between the States made the southern route impractical, and Butterfield moved his operation north to the Salt Lake route.

Special Show For Band-O-Rama On Veterans Day, October 22

PORTERVILLE – Admiral Ward Cummings and Navy Lt. Gary Thornton will join with some 1,000 student bandsmen to present a special Band-O-Rama show in Jamison stadium as a feature of Porterville's Veterans Day and Homecoming celebration, Monday, October 22, starting at 2 p.m.

Cummings and Thornton will dedicate 26 Redwood trees that will later be planted in the city of Porterville in memory of men who lost their lives in the Vietnam conflict.

The tree dedication will be part of a Band-O-Rama program in which bands from a number of schools will parade in front of the stadium then move into position on the stadium field for a massed band performance under the baton of Wesley Moore, director of the Bakersfield High School Driller band.

The Driller band, one of the outstanding bands in California, will move into the program's solo spot to recreate one of their famous half-time shows.

HARVEST MOON FRIDAY-SATURDAY

Porterville merchants will fill their windows with student art work and their counters with sale bargains during Harvest Moon - Moonlight Madness sale in Porterville's four major shopping areas tomorrow, Friday, and Saturday - Downtown Porterville, Town and Country, Porterville Plaza, and Smith's Town Square. Most participating stores will be open from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., Friday night; awards will go to stores with the best theme displays and employee costuming.

Sounding Of Hewgag, Anvil Salute, Parade Feature Sunday Ceremony

VISALIA – There is some reason to believe that festivities of a most colorful nature will be in order when brethren of Jim Savage Chapter 1852, E Clampus Vitus, conduct a clampilgrimage to the hamlet of Visalia, Sunday, to dedicate a historical monument at original site of the Butterfield Overland Mail station.

Of more than surpassing importance, this dedicatory extravaganza, in which the general public is invited to participate, will start at 2 p.m. with a parade down Visalia's Main street, featuring the Jim Savage Clamper band; an anvil salute at 2:15 p.m. will announce a re-enacted arrival of the Overland Mail stage, October 8, 1858; sounding of the Hewgag by Hewgag Sounder Leroy Manly will follow, after which Clamp greetings will be extended by Ken Cruff, Noble Grand Humbug of Jim Savage chapter.

The eminently distinguished Clampauthor and historian, Joe Doctor, will enlighten all and sundry with appropriate remarks; "The Story of E Clampus Vitus" will be told in an address by Robert M. Wash.

Anvil Salute

XNGH; Encomium, "The Butterfield Overland Mail," will be delivered by Kenneth Fryer, Clamp Orator and second vice NGH.

A magnificent monument of splendid proportions commemorating the Overland Mail will be unveiled at 3 p.m., or thereabouts; a flag will be presented to John Butterfield descendants by Marion Foster, Noble Grand Recorder of Jim Savage chapter; closing ceremony, in which the audience will join with the Clamper Outhouse Five Plus Two in rendering "God Bless America," will be followed by a Clampicnic for Clampers, their widders and families.

From a message delivered by a wandering Clamper who had drifted down from San Francisco, it was learned that an original Wells Fargo stage coach, courtesy of a bank of the same name, will be in Visalia for the dedication ceremony.

On Saturday, the Jim Savage Fall Clampassembly and Clampinitiation will be held during the afternoon somewhere along the San Joaquin river.

WILSON RILES SPEAKS OCT. 18 IN VISALIA

VISALIA – Dr. Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction, is to be in Tulare county on Thursday, October 18, according to Tulare County Superintendent of Schools Max Cochran.

A major address will be made by Dr. Riles at 7:30 p.m. in Montgomery auditorium in Visalia. The public is invited.

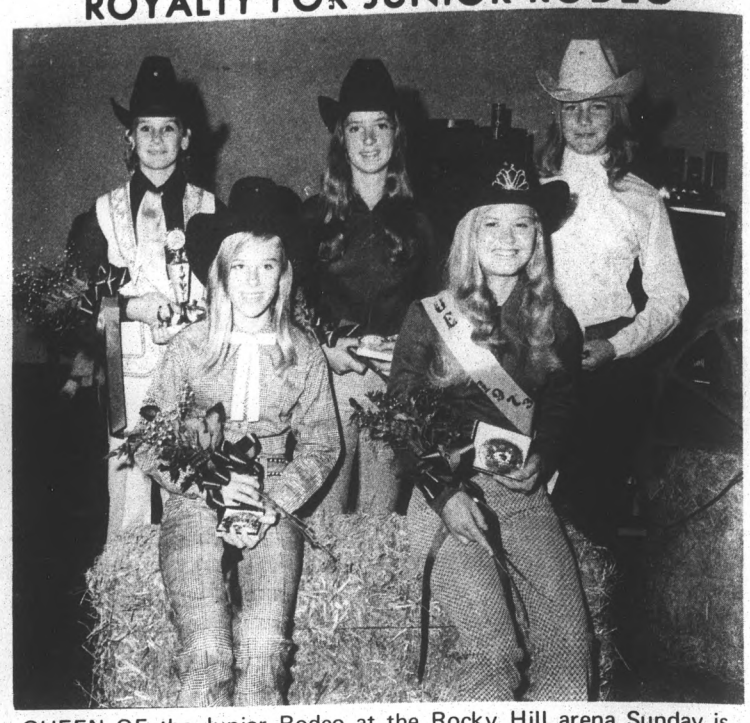

State Senator Howard Way and Assemblyman Gordon Duffy will make brief presentations that evening related to legislation on educational matters. All speakers will be introduced by Jane Fiala of Visalia, president of the Educational Congress of California.

Earlier in the day, Dr. Riles will attend a luncheon meeting in Tulare and visit the schools there. His Tulare visit is being arranged by Thelma Gomez, assistant superintendent of Tulare city schools.

There will be an informal dinner meeting with Dr. Riles at 5:30 p.m. at The Depot in Visalia. This is being sponsored by several educational agencies.

Cantaloupe harvest continues to taper off in all Westside areas.

ROYALTY FOR JUNIOR RODEO

ENTOMOLOGISTS MEET OCTOBER 18

BAKERSFIELD – Regulatory legislation will be the emphasis at the October 18 meeting of the San Joaquin Entomology association to be held at the Hilton Inn, Bakersfield, starting at 9 a.m.

OUR TOWN

By Ruth Loyd

GEORGE DON and his mother are trying to teach me to speak Chinese. It's taken me a couple of years to say "Good morning" and "Hello, how are you?" When I remember to say these things GEORGE and his mother always answer me with something that sounds like "Ho Ho" and I feel very smart. At least I think that is what GEORGE is teaching me. The Chinese language doesn't have any swear words, so that's not what I'm worried about. GEORGE is our favorite butcher. He and his wife BETTY own the Quality Market, and when I want something special, GEORGE gets out a huge hunk of beef and cuts me what I want. Much nicer than all packaged. The DONS also own the building kitty corner from their market, and it has a bit of Chinese flavor, and I want GEORGE to put a huge Chinese character on the shingles. My favorite character is beautiful, but it means "locomotive," and I don't think that would be good for a building that says Hike and Bike on the windows.

When I get into difficulty with my knitting or crocheting, I run down to Paul's Fine Fabrics and get INEZ WAGNER to help me. She can't believe how dumb a second grade teacher can be. I keep telling her that the second grade doesn't tell how to make a picot. She sighs and makes me read it again, and presto, I can make a picot. INEZ wears a neck brace, and everyone asks her how come? She has a different wild story for each person. LEONA PARTAIN stays in the front of the store and sells yardage, but I stay in the back with the yarn. It takes brains to sew, but knitting is more my speed. PAUL'S name is FREEMAN. He was afraid I wouldn't spell it correctly. Anyway, it is friendly to slip in the back door and ask dumb questions of INEZ, and end up with a lovely piece of knitting.

GEORGE DAY FERGUSON got knocked over again. This is the third time his bachelor pad has been broken into. There's nothing left to steal. His cupboard is bare. This time they took two Christmas candles, and some fake matches. We rushed up with dips and chips to help wait for the sheriff. Fred Wittich arrived in his white fuzz car with the red light and got to work. We followed him around asking questions and getting in his way. We learned about fingerprinting and taking pictures of footprints. FRED lives in Springville, and patrols 488 square miles between Success Lake and the Ponderosa. His father is FRANK WITTICH of San Diego where he is with the Harbor Police, and I'm sure he must be proud of his son. FRED is twenty six years old, and if I ever have to call the police, I hope FRED comes to help me. BOB WILEY was a smart Sheriff to get FRED. FRED is not only intelligent, but he is charming also. He was so patient with my questions, and I learned a great deal about the trials and tribulations of a young cop. I, as a rule, don't love the police because they give me so many tickets, which I deserve. But now I understand a lot more, thanks to FRED.

Highway Patrol Checking Exhausts For Smog Control

SACRAMENTO – Twenty additional California Highway Patrol inspection teams will begin next week to check vehicle exhaust emissions as part of the state's smog control program.

Eighteen teams will operate in the Los Angeles area and the other two will be assigned to San Diego and Oakland. All will be equipped with exhaust gas analyzers capable of measuring carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon emissions. They will work in conjunction with the Patrol's vehicle inspection teams and check emissions while the safety inspections are in progress.

CHP Commissioner Walter Pudinski said that warning citations will be issued to drivers whose vehicles are over legal limits. No court appearance will be required by the citation but the driver must have the deficiency corrected within 14 days.

ART AND ANNIE IN PERSON FRIDAY AT MOUNTAIN LION

Annie and the Village Idiot - specifically Art and Ann Thrall - will be feted by Doc Small's Medicine Show troupe in the Mountain Lion saloon Friday night.

All and sundry in addition to any others, are invited to stop by; time is from about then until somewhat later; those as can might bring a poke of provisions.

The Thralls, talented performers in the Medicine show, plan to hit the trail for here and there come October 23.

Flagpole And Flag To Be Dedicated To Memory Of Porterville's War Dead

PORTERVILLE – A new flagpole and flag will be dedicated at the Porterville Memorial auditorium on Sunday, October 21 as part of annual memorial service that is traditionally held in connection with Veterans Day and Homecoming.

The service will start at 7 p.m. with the outdoor dedication, followed at 8 p.m. with regular service inside the auditorium.

Participating in the flagpole and flag dedication will be veterans of the four most recent wars in which the United States has been engaged, including Navy Lt. Gary Thornton, a prisoner of war in Vietnam and Barney Richardson, chairman of the Memorial district board of directors, himself a prisoner during World War II.

Clay Balcombe, commander of Post 20, The American Legion, and Jim Hayden, commander of Mt. Whitney Post 2001, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will raise the colors; music will be provided by Buck Shaffer's Porterville College band.

Delivering the principal address at the inside memorial service will be Dr. Robin McDonald, pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Terra Bella; Lt. Thornton will memorialize his fallen Vietnam comrades; Porterville Mayor Joe Faure will read a proclamation declaring Veterans day as the day on which to pay special tribute to the community's military war dead; the Porterville College band will play; the Porterville High School Concert choir, directed by Christopher Bayless, will offer musical selections.

Also participating in the non-denominational service will be the Rev. Jennie Bonilla, pastor of the Asamblea De Dios; Msgr. Harry Eggert, St. Anne's Catholic church; Rev. Bill Harrison, First Baptist church; Rev. Philip McGallian, Grand Avenue United Methodist church; Rev. Robert Matzke, Navy Reserve chaplain, ret.; Rev. Charles Brandon, rector emeritus, St. John's Episcopal church; and the Rev. Ragnar Kjeldahl, retired commander, Navy Chaplain corps, retired chaplain Porterville State hospital, and chaplain, Post 20, The American Legion, who is in charge of the memorial program.

Broccoli and cauliflower are moving in good volume from the Salinas valley and the Santa Maria area.

FARM FRONT

VISALIA – As of the week ending October 6, this is the way it was on the Tulare county farm front, according to report from the office of Agricultural Commissioner Elvin O. Mankins:

Milo harvest is continuing; field corn for silage is being green chopped; shelled corn is being harvested as fields dry.

Defoliation of cotton is progressing; picking of cotton is underway in some areas of the county. Alfalfa is still being cut and baled. Blackeyes and sugar beets are being harvested.

Ribier, Calmeria, Emperor and Thompson grapes being packed for the fresh market; juice grapes moving to wineries. A few late peaches are being packed. Pomegranates, persimmons and olives being picked; walnut harvest in full swing with a good crop reported. Red and Golden Delicious apples are at their peak. Raisins being rolled and boxed.

Navel oranges are sizing well and are breaking color; whitewashing continues in citrus groves.

Fall tomatoes are beginning to set; winter peas growing well; fall squash being picked.

Range and irrigated pasture conditions remain generally good.

Apple harvest is active in coastal and Sierra foothill areas.

BUREAU OF CENSUS SCHOOL SURVEY PLANNED OCT. 15-19

LOS ANGELES – A sample of households in Tulare county will be included in the federal government's annual survey of school enrollment to be taken the week of October 15-19 by the Bureau of the Census, part of the U.S. Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics administration.

C. Michael Long, Director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Los Angeles, said that interviewers will visit homes to obtain information about household members attending school, from nursery school through college, including those taking vocational, technical, or business courses.

Fire Prevention Check List Offered For Protection Of Farmer Families

VISALIA — Farm fires are potentially dangerous because a farmer, his family and his property are usually considerable distance away from the nearest fire department or from neighbors who could lend assistance.

Farm families should take all precautions to prevent accidental fires and they should use all methods of fighting fires if they do start, says Galen C. Wiley, Farmers Home Administration County supervisor of Visalia.

The Farmers Home administration, in observance of National Fire Prevention week, offers this list of fire prevention and protection ideas:

1. Make sure every member of your family knows how to call the fire department. Post the fire department number at the telephone. Also, make sure the fire department knows the layout of your farm, house and barn, and the location of water supplies.

2. Check condition of heating equipment, including chimneys and flues. Make all repairs necessary for safe operation.

3. Check electric wiring for wear and loads - replace worn and inadequate wiring. Use only 15-ampere fuses unless a circuit has been especially designed for larger loads.

4. Keep fire fighting tools accessible for an emergency.

5. Have ladders ready for escape and for fighting roof fires.

6. Keep fire extinguishers on hand. Check them frequently and recharge them when necessary. Also, protect them from freezing during winter months.

Persimmons and pomegranates are now being harvested.

LIVE CATTLE PRICES IN 30 PERCENT DROP SINCE AUG. 17 HIGH

SAN FRANCISCO – The American National Cattlemen's association has reported that live cattle prices have dropped nearly 30 percent from highs experienced on August 17 of this year.

Association President-elect Gordon Van Vleck said that this massive drop in prices is the largest such decline since 1950 - at the beginning of the Korean War.

Harvest of the raisin crop is now complete.

Bell pepper harvest is at moderate levels now in the Salinas and San Joaquin valleys.

Sweet potato harvest is underway in the Livingston area.

"BUTTERFLIES" HELD OVER AT BARN FOR OCTOBER 12-13 PERFORMANCES

PORTERVILLE – The Barn Theatre production of "Butterflies Are Free," which was scheduled to close this past weekend, will be held over for Friday and Saturday, Oct. 12 and 13. Performances are at 8:15 p.m.; reservations may be made at 784-8086.

The comedy hit concerns the problems faced by a young blind man who moves into an apartment by himself, becomes involved with his young neighbor, an actess, and the ensuing entanglements when his overly protective mother tries to force him to return home.

The Barn production, with Wayne Burgess, Sherri Wilcox, Rick Smith and Nan Lumley, will be taken on tour after the hold-over weekend, with Exeter, Visalia, and Pacifica under consideration for future dates.

Band-O-Rama

The Band-O-Rama is under the direction of Buck Shaffer; working with him on the program will be Bill Rodgers; the Rev. Bill Harrison, of the First Baptist church; and the Rev. Ragnar Kjeldahl, retired chaplain of the Porterville State hospital; and Porterville Mayor Joe Faure.

Following the Homecoming parade on October 22, band members will go to the student lounge on the Porterville College campus where, prior to the Band-O-Rama, they will be provided with box lunches by the Veterans Day committee.

Although there will be no admission charge for the Band-O-Rama, donations to offset production expenses will be accepted.

CINDY PEER, LAURIE CHESNEY ARE QUEENS

Cindy Peer, a senior at Monache High school who was sponsored by the Barn Theater Guild, will reign as queen of the 1973 Porterville Veterans Day and Homecoming October 22, and will serve as Miss Porterville during the coming year.

Laurie Chesney, a student at Bartlett Jr. High school who was sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, will serve as Junior Queen.

In the Homecoming Queen court are: Anita Solomon, senior princess; and Renee Rivinius, Kathe Boyd, and Rene Walsh, attendants.

In the Junior Queen court are: Mary Lisa Barrett, junior princess; and Anne Cummings, Kris Bedford and Sheryl Elerick, attendants.

VISITORS FROM JAPAN HOSTED AT FRESNO

FRESNO – The School of Agricultural Sciences at California State University, Fresno, will host a group of 10 Japanese agriculturalists October 17-23 while they are visiting Central California as part of a nationwide tour.

The group is composed of agricultural extension specialists in vegetable and ornamental crops work and is the first of a series of groups Japan hopes to send to the U.S. annually for training experience.
